The new approach to insurance surveys

Cardinus, part of the AmWins Group, is an established risk management company with over 20 years' experience providing on-site services and in-house developed software solutions. Over 2,000 organisations use Cardinus services, with 2,000,000 end users of our software globally

Indigo is our new Risk Management Gateway for the instruction and tracking of insurance risk surveys by insurers, including interactive assisted policyholder participation in risk improvements.

Indigo is an easy and inclusive approach to the current way in which risk surveys are ordered and delivered. Key to our approach is the interaction Indigo provides insurers and policyholders; giving them both a better experience and achieving more risk improvements than the market currently does.

As with other Cardinus software, Indigo provides a user friendly "everything in one place" approach; all aspects of the ordering, administration, survey booking, reporting and policyholder interaction with risk improvements take place within the Gateway; a centralised, secure platform.

Indigo is simpler, faster and more efficient than any other solution in the market and finally modernises the way in which risk surveys are ordered tracked and delivered. We deliver over 5,000 risk and valuation surveys a year in the UK and abroad, using our own risk survey team and reporting software. We use Indigo and like it – so will you!

Indigo provides an end-to-end solution for managing your insurance surveys
