ABOUT BON-ACCORD TRAINING

Bon-Accord Training Ltd in Ellon, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, is a provider of skills and safety training across multiple industries, including construction, forestry, oil and gas and aviation.

The company, which was founded in 1986, delivers training in the safe use and operation of mechanical handling equipment, including Counterbalance Lift Trucks, Multi-Directional Steer, Rough Terrain Telescopic Trucks, Side-Loaders, Pivot Steer Trucks, MEWPS, Pedestrian Pallet Trucks, and more.

It prides itself on the quality of its training and has a reputation for providing accredited training by a highly experience team of instructors who have industry experience and knowledge.

Our Instructors deliver training to specific industries and are rarely in a standard warehouse environment. The RTITB training materials take that into account and are the best we've seen so far. The development of their app for example is a real positive change.

I would recommend that any company seeking a training provider ensures that they choose an Accredited organisation. We've seen standards drop in materials handling equipment and plant training. However, we feel that with their training materials, customer support and commitment to raising standards, what RTITB is doing is great for our industry.

RTITB's service team is extremely patient and helpful and they never mind if I need to call several times to check something. They supported us from start to finish through the Accreditation process and were keen to help us ensure that things were done correctly. I feel like a valued customer.
