Course description

This course is designed to give delegates an understanding of basic fire safety and fire prevention within their workplace, culminating in a simulated exercise involving live fire and extinguishers.

Who should attend this course?

Designed to give all staff members an enhanced knowledge of fire safety. The employer will benefit from having employees who are aware of the potential fire hazards within the workplace and who can take effective action in the event of a fire.

Key benefits

- It will make personnel aware of potential fire risks in their work environment and how to react on discovering a fire.
- Delegates will be able to assist the Fire Warden in their duties.
- Delegates will understand the Principles of Combustion, Fire Classifications and the safe operation of various types of fire extinguishers.
- Delegates will be instructed on the safe use of fire extinguishers via a controlled live fire demonstration and practical/practice.

Prerequisites

No previous experience is required.

Duration

This is a two-hour, instructor-led course.
